

How Can Your Agency Host a Law Enforcement Training Course?

Available Classes (click on class name for more information):

- Characteristics of Armed Offenders
- Pre-Incident Indicators of Assault
- Crime Guns: What Every Officer Needs to Know
- De-escalation Strategies: Tactical Planning and Sound Decision-Making
- Maximizing Performance During Critical Situations

Any of these courses may be conducted as a stand-alone class or may be combined into various configurations, i.e. two half-day classes, multiple full-day classes, one full day and one half day, etc.

What Is Expected of Your Organization?

A hosting agency's only responsibility is to secure a suitable training venue capable of seating at least 50 law enforcement officers. The classroom must have a projector, projection screen, and sound capability. No cost is incurred to the host agency for hosting a class. A representative from Community Strategies Unlimited will visit before committing to the proposed location.

Are There Any Perks for Hosting?

As our "thank you" for identifying and securing a training site, your agency:

- Will be listed as host of the training
- Will receive 10 percent off the registration fee for all officers from your agency
- Is entitled to have your Chief or his/her designee offer welcoming remarks

What Does Community Strategies Unlimited Do For You?

We'll create promotional materials, distribute training announcements, secure the trainer(s), handle registrations, payments, check-in, course evaluations, training materials, certificates and meals (optional). In short, we take care of everything.

If your agency is interested in hosting a training, please contact Martha Wyatt at (603) 560-3949 or info@communitystrategies.net. We look forward to working with you!
